

Premdor Crosby opens the door to Assured for a CCTV System to help Improve Health and Safety Compliance!

Premdor Crosby saves money and improves compliance with Assured!

Premdor Crosby Ltd, with over 90 years of experience in door and joinery manufacturing, manufacture an extensive, quality, range of timber doors, from French and folding doors, to door accessories and doorsets – doors galore!

With their 410,000ft² site, built in 1992 and home to over 400 employees, they are the largest door and joinery manufacturer in Europe.

As with most manufacturing companies, health and safety is usually a top priority due to the numerous hazards that can be on this type of site. Premdor were looking to improve on the efficiency of the health and safety management within their warehouse, a quicker and less time-consuming way to record incident details and identify the people at risk was needed. Managers were spending a considerable amount of time on incidents that they had limited control over. They required an enhanced level of monitoring to capture accidents and near misses in a more manageable and efficient way. Their problem was the increasing costs of investigating accidents and therefore, they needed a new, efficient procedure to capture them.

Premdor decided that they needed a system that would monitor and record their health and safety conduct to ensure their stringent policies were being followed. Therefore, if an accident or incident occurred, they would have evidence of the incident, the people at risk, and the order of events.

Premdor's Health and Safety Manager, Nigel Holling had previously worked with Assured and decided to call us in, to see how we could help.

Simon Ord, Assured's Account Manager for Premdor, spent time understanding the situation and finding a solution to cover all areas of concern. As part of this,

“Within 6 months of the installation, the CCTV system has paid for itself with the money and time Assured have saved us when investigating any onsite incidents and disputes”.

Darren Fox,
Production Manager,
Premdor Crosby Ltd

Simon recommended a digital CCTV solution and provided a full demonstration of the equipment we proposed. Simon ran through the entire process with Premdor's Production and Health and Safety Manager, confirming lead times, the installation process and commissioning points ensuring that a full programme of works was agreed to minimise disruption to Premdor's people and their day to day jobs.

Due to the size of the project and the need to utilise the existing IT networking infrastructure, Assured worked closely and provided training with the IT department on site to ensure they were fully aware of how the system would integrate with their systems.

The benefits of having a CCTV system in place, especially due to the nature of the business, means that Premdor and their managers have improved the efficiency and visibility of risks and incidents for compliance. Premdor are saving costs on health and safety and therefore, have more time to spend on the business.
